

Notebook 11

Date: 5/1/2025

Objectives:

1. Finish the mock demo

Record of Work:

We ran through our mock demo today, and overall it went really smoothly. The system worked as expected, and it was a great chance to practice our timing and transitions. It felt good to finally present something we were proud of and see it hold up under pressure.

The reviewers gave us some helpful feedback, mainly focused on presentation delivery. They pointed out that we should work on our posture while presenting, like standing more confidently and facing the audience instead of the screen. They also suggested cleaning up a few of our slides by reducing the amount of text and emphasizing key visuals or bullet points instead. We're planning to revise those slides this week and do another round of practice runs so that we're confident and polished for the real thing.